

Dear Producer,

John Perkins' controversial bestselling book, Confessions of an Economic Hit Man, has struck a nerve in the heart of America. Perkins' insider account of bad faith dealings sanctioned by the American government has brought to light the disturbing motivations behind the making of the first truly global empire.

Now is your chance to get Perkins on the air and put him on the spot about the incredible assertions he makes against the corporatocracy that has dictated American foreign policy since the mid-1900s.

Confessions is already a hit, having entered the top ten on 20 bestseller lists nationwide, including The Wall Street Journal, Washington Post, USA Today, and LA Times. Within a few short months, it is already being translated into 9 languages around the world. A short glimpse at reader comments on Amazon.com makes it clear that this book is making people think.

And Perkins has proved his media savvy during hundreds of interviews and events across the country—from Amy Goodman's Democracy Now! to CSPAN's Book-TV and PBS's Now with David Brancaccio. He is passionate and articulate—and he's ready to answer your toughest questions.
